Wyoming HIV/AIDS/Hepatitis Care and Prevention Planning Alliance

The HIV/AIDS/Hepatitis Community Planning process in Wyoming is supported through cooperative agreements with the United States Department of Health and Human Services, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), and the Wyoming Department of Health.

The core objectives of community planning are:

- Bring together a diverse group of individuals concerned about HIV, AIDS, and Hepatitis in the state of Wyoming.
- Include members on the Alliance who are representative of various populations living with or at increased risk for HIV/AIDS and Hepatitis.
- Develop a Comprehensive Plan detailing Wyoming's approaches to the care and prevention of HIV/AIDS and Hepatitis.
- Evaluate strengths, weaknesses, barriers, and gaps in prevention and care service delivery in Wyoming.
- Prioritize prevention interventions based on need, effectiveness, cost, theory, and community norms and values.
- Advocate for consistent access to care and treatment across Wyoming.

MISSION

The mission of the Wyoming HIV/AIDS/Hepatitis Care and Prevention Planning Alliance is to develop, evaluate, and modify a Comprehensive Plan that effectively addresses the care and prevention needs of high-risk populations as well as individuals living with or affected by HIV, AIDS, and Hepatitis in Wyoming.
