Governor Dave Freudenthal

Greetings, to all of you from the Office of EMS,

I am honored to be working with you as a partner in providing pre-hospital care to all of Wyoming. I had opportunity to meet many of you at the 40th Annual Wyoming Trauma Conference, but I know there were many of you that were unable to attend. My plan is to visit all of your services in the coming year so I can learn about how your service operates and how the OEMS can support you. This office is your office. I want to hear from you, so send us an email, give us a call or even stop in just to say, "Hi."

Our mission here at the OEMS is to ensure that the people of Wyoming have access to the best possible emergency medical services when needed and we need all of you to do that. If we aren't working with our EMTs, paramedics, service directors, medical directors, emergency departments and the whole host of people and organizations that are involved, then we are failing at our mission. We owe the people of Wyoming a well-oiled and top-notch EMS system, and this office is absolutely committed to working with all of you in providing that.

So the near future, my plans are to meet all of you, learn about your organizations and work with all of you in continuing to build and improve our system.

I am so proud to be joining all of you in serving the people of Wyoming and thank you for allowing me to serve in this position.

Stay Safe,

Andy Gienapp
