ORH News

November was a busy month for the Office of Rural Health! Our Medicare Rural Hospital Flexibility (FLEX) Program Manager conducted critical access hospital site visits in Afton, Thermopolis, and Lusk. These visits provided an opportunity for program staff to engage with critical access hospital staff and to share information regarding funding opportunities, training opportunities, and to discuss community and facility successes and challenges.

ORH Staff participated in several out of state training opportunities, including participating in the State Offices of Rural Health Orientation at HRSA headquarters in Rockville, MD. The orientation allowed for new staff to learn more about support available from federal partners, learned the ins and outs of various funding opportunities, and networked with SORH staff from other states in order to learn how to serve Wyoming residents better.

Finally, the Wyoming ORH celebrated National Rural Health Day on November 21st alongside national partners, state partners, and SORHs across the country. Program staff hosted a film screening of "The Providers" at the library and had a chance to share the film and engage in conversation with community partners. WY-ORH also hosted its annual National Rural Health Day Photo Contest—winners to be announced soon! Thank you to everyone who participated in WY-ORH sponsored events, to those to helped get the word out about National Rural Health Day, and to those who continue to work tirelessly to increase access to quality health care in rural communities across Wyoming.

Strategies to Improve Health Outcomes and to Reduce Disparities in Rural Populations

This NIH funded opportunity encourages research to promote a greater understanding of the challenges faced by rural population groups, for the development (or adoption/adaptation) of evidence-based interventions that can reduce health risks faced by rural Americans. Both prevention and treatment interventions are needed to address rural health issues. Prevention strategies should address and measure reductions in risk factors and enhancement of protective factors, while treatment approaches would...

seek to measure and address amelioration of health in individuals living with existing conditions. To accomplish these goals, the research community will be encouraged to use a wide range of culturally appropriate methodological approaches that can enhance access to and acceptability of interventions in rural settings, such as telehealth and community-based prevention research, where appropriate. It is our hope that research supported under this RFA will contribute to our knowledge of the sustainability of health promotion and disease prevention strategies in rural settings. Visit here for the full RFA announcement.

Research and Explore Awesome Careers in Healthcare (REACH)

Healthcare (REACH) Program is an exciting program supported by the WY-ORH focusing on rural students in grades 5-10. The purpose of the program is to increase students' awareness, interest, and understanding of healthcare careers available in rural Wyoming. Grant award recipients host day camps in a healthcare setting where students are introduced to rural healthcare careers through a variety of innovative activities.

Learn more about the REACH Program and access the grant application on our website.

Students Encouraged to Enter Radon Poster Contest

The Wyoming Department of Health (WDH) encourages Wyoming students in grades 3-9 to enter a poster contest aimed at increasing awareness about radon and radon testing. “We know there is a lot of creativity out there among Wyoming youth. We want them to use their ideas and skills to help tell the story of radon and its risks,” said Star Jones, outreach and education supervisor with the WDH Wyoming Cancer Program. Radon is an invisible, odorless, tasteless radioactive gas found in the soil that can sometimes reach dangerous levels in homes. The U.S. Surgeon General lists radon exposure as the second leading cause of lung cancer in the nation. “The only way to detect the amount of radon present in a home or other building is to test,” Jones said. Entries will be divided into groups for grades 3-6 and grades 7-9. The top two winners from each group will receive gift certificates: $200 for first place; $100 for second. Winning posters will be used in local advertisements. Teachers of winning students will each receive $100 toward classroom supplies. Students must choose from the following five topics for their posters:

1. What is radon?
2. Where does radon come from?
3. How does radon get into our homes?
4. Radon can cause lung cancer.
5. Test your home for radon.

The contest deadline is December 20.

More contest information, important artwork details and the required Artwork Submission Form is available at www.wyomingradon.org. Please mail submissions to Radon Poster Contest, Attn: Aaron Foxen, Wyoming Cancer Program, 6101 Yellowstone Road, Suite 510, Cheyenne, WY 82002.
