GENERAL UPDATES

WyPQC Coordinator

We want to introduce our new WyPQC Coordinator, Whitney Montgomery, from Wyoming-based Infield Vector, LLC. Her work as our coordinator officially began September 1, 2022. We are so excited for Whitney to join the team and written below is a little blurb about herself and her work!

Whitney is a Wyoming native and a Public Health Specialist with Infield Vector, a Wyoming based organization that serves the healthcare, public health, and public safety industries. She attended Arizona State University where she majored in Global Health and worked on public health initiatives in Morocco and Tanzania. Upon return to Wyoming, she began working in the EMS and Surgery departments at Campbell County Health in Gillette. Whitney has served on multiple projects with Infield Vector. Her first was as the Readiness and Response Coordinator for the Wyoming Region 1 Healthcare Coalition, and then as a consultant on the Rural Veterans Health Access Project. After personally having a child during the pandemic, she became very passionate about perinatal healthcare and is very excited to be a part of the Perinatal Quality Collaborative.
